

Looking Good!

With this kind of attitude, you may never get past the receptionist!

Unless you're trying out for a baseball team, the cap doesn't belong at an interview

Sorry, but your favorite old shirt and most comfortable jeans don't exactly scream "dressed for success."

The tie lets employers know you're serious about the job.

A smile can be your best accessory.

Dress clothes don't have to be expensive – and are well worth the small investment.
